Librarian wins national award for exemplary work

Every year library patrons across the United States nominate their favorite librarian for the I Love My Librarian award. The prestigious award is presented to 10 deserving recipients by the American Library Association and is sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Naomi Bishop, MLIS, AHIP, Health Sciences Librarian with the University of Arizona College of Medicine – Phoenix, was 1 of 10 winners. Bishop was selected for being "a champion for social justice" and providing invaluable research that propelled new safety guidelines during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Congratulations, Naomi!

Students can win $1,000 for library research

The annual Katheryne B. Willock Library Research Award recognizes undergraduate and graduate students participating in the University of Arizona Student Showcase who have made extensive use of our library services and resources.

We awarded up to six prizes—$1,000 each! Learn how to apply ►►►

Join us for Equality of Rights: An Ongoing Agenda

Join Pima County Recorder Gabriela Cazares-Kelly, author Heidi Osselander, and University of Arizona School of Government and Public Policy Assistant Professor Lisa M. Sanchez for this free virtual event on Thursday, January 28, 6pm MST, as they discuss how the 19th Amendment – which granted women the right to vote in 1920 – and the historic election outcomes in 2020 have impacted them.

Register now ►►►

New library hours

This semester we extended our hours at the Weaver Library, in the Main Library lobby, and for our chat, email, and text support services to meet the needs of our University of Arizona students, faculty, and staff on campus and online.

Get more information ►►►

Alumnus shares a memory

In this short Archive Tucson interview clip, Charles Kendrick, a College of Pharmacy alumnus (Class of ’55), describes how people migrated from the South during the 1950s and 1960s. Archive Tucson is the University of Arizona Libraries’ collection of oral histories about life and change in Tucson and Southern Arizona.

Listen to his story ►►►

Share this email:

Manage your preferences | RGTY FULL + SHARE Icons | Contact Us | Sign up to receive our future emails

This email was sent to:
To continue receiving our email, add us to your address book.