

Robert C. Robbins @UArizonaPres · Mar 9

Yesterday, Ellen Knight, a librarian with @uazlibraries, received the 50,000th dose of COVID-19 vaccine dispensed by the @uarizona POD. Outstanding job by the team bringing this service to our community!

Library employee receives 50,000th vaccination at UA!

On March 9, Ellen Knight from our Delivery, Description & Acquisitions department received the 50,000th COVID-19 vaccination at the University of Arizona POD (point of distribution)! The University of Arizona is transitioning to a high-capacity state vaccination site that will eventually operate 24/7 and serve up to 6,000 people per day.

5 things to know about the Student Success District

Many of us have not been on the university's main campus for the last year. But the Student Success District construction project that started in late 2018 has been moving forward the whole time. Here's the first installment in a series of articles about the new spaces and centralized resources students and employees will find as they return to campus.

Enjoy panel event recordings

In case you missed these virtual events, enjoy the recordings from two excellent panel discussions that we hosted in January and early March—Equality of Rights: An Ongoing Agenda and Feminist Leadership Through Women's Studies. Both events were part of our current online exhibit, Founding Mothers: From the Ballot Box to the University.

2021 Willock Library Research Award winners announced

Libraries and research go hand in hand. This year, we celebrated our 10th annual Katherine B. Willock Library Research Award by recognizing six students for their research and how they connect to the University of Arizona Libraries.
