A new district is dedicated to student success

On April 13, University leaders celebrated the grand opening of the Student Success District, a nine-acre span of four buildings that house resources students need to thrive, including library services, learning support, tutoring, advising, mentoring, career services and health programs.

Learn more

Congratulations to our student employees!

Student employees contribute a lot to the University Libraries every day. As this semester comes to a close, it’s time to say goodbye to 24 of our student employees graduating this spring or summer.

A special message

Sophomore Brock Drew tours the Student Success District

Making the most of college often takes resources you find outside the classroom—tutoring, wellness, career counseling. Join Brock Drew for a tour.

Watch the video

Kiri Carini honored

Kiri Carini, Geospatial Specialist, is one of seven employees and two teams being honored for outstanding contributions, creativity, and compassion in the 2022 Awards for Excellence, presented by the university’s Staff Council and President’s Cabinet.

Read more about Kiri

Celebrating Asian Pacific Islander Desi American Heritage Month at the Libraries

We join the University of Arizona in celebrating Asian Pacific Islander Desi American (APIDA) Heritage Month throughout April, looking at book recommendations and looking back at historical archives in Special Collections.

Read now

Taking care of students

We’re helping students finish up their work, relax, focus, and make self-care a priority during Finals Week with drop-in reference and research help, self-care kits, therapy dogs, and stress-relieving crafts.

Get details

www.library.arizona.edu ▶ (520) 621-6442 ▶ library@arizona.edu